

Healthy Adult Volunteers!

We would like to study your blood stem cells!

Researchers at the National Institutes of Health (NIH) are looking at the best ways to collect and purify adult stem cells found in the blood, and to determine whether these stem cells can be redirected to form other kinds of blood cells in order to better understand and treat blood diseases.

You may be eligible to participate in this study if:

- You are 18 years of age or older.
- You are in general good health.
- You are not pregnant or breast feeding.

- Compensation is provided.
- Study is conducted at the NIH Clinical Center in Bethesda, Maryland.
